

Membership Application

Thank you for your decision in becoming an active member of the credit advocacy industry's largest national trade association. The American Fair Credit Council (AFCC™) has a mission and focus that is truly unique in our industry. A few of the many factors that make us stand alone in our industry include:

Consumers: Our primary focus is on the consumers we help. Their story - the suffering of good people drowning in credit card debt, in need of an advocate - is not being told, and is misunderstood.

Fairness: We fight for fair treatment for our customers with creditors, and we provide fair services to the customers we serve. We only charge fees after we have successfully resolved debt for our customers.

Advocacy: We are a champion for consumers--an aggressive advocate - for the industry, our members and our clients.

Good guys: The AFCC is ONLY for those willing to abide by the AFCC's new code of conduct--that emphasizes full compliance with the federal rules for our industry at state and federal levels.

AFCC Member Enforcement and Cancellation Policy and Procedures

New Member Policy

1. A new company will be secret shopped twice within the first 30 days. During this 30 day period the company is granted provisional membership. The company will be fully shopped including checking for a completed budget and receiving a contract. There will be an initial membership setup fee of $150 to pay for the initial cost of the secret shopper program. Once the company has been shopped twice and they meet AFCC requirements they will be granted full membership.
2. A provisional member will be listed in a separate section of the AFCC website as a provisional member and both the AFCC logo and the AFCC popup window from the logo will reflect the provisional status as well.
3. This New Member Policy does not supersede AFCC's right to review all membership applications and reject any application at its sole discretion.
4. AFCC members are required to have both front end and back end companies be a member. A front end company cannot be a member if their servicing company is not an AFCC member. A backend company must require all front end companies to be an affiliate member.

Minor Non-compliance of AFCC Standards -Secret Shopper Program / Web Site/Marketing

1. Any violation not considered a gross violation shall be a minor violation
2. First violation - A warning letter along with the reports from the secret shopper website review will be sent out explaining the issues and giving the company 14 days to correct the issues. The member should submit a response addressing the action taken to cure the noncompliance. If no response is received, a second and final warning letter will be sent.
3. The company receiving the report and warning may otherwise request a review of the results with a detailed explanation if the company believes the findings are in error.
4. These requests will be reviewed by the Standards committee and if accepted, the issue will be deemed resolved.
5. If not accepted by the standards committee the decision may be appealed to the Executive Board of the AFCC and a decision will be made within 30 days. If such final decision confirms noncompliance, the member must submit a response addressing the action taken to cure the noncompliance.
6. Failure to respond will result in a change in company status to "not in good standing".
7. Second violation of same issue - A warning letter along with the reports from the secret shopper website review will be sent out explaining the issues and giving the company 14 days to correct the issues. A company's status will be changed to "not in good standing" and the AFCC website will be updated to reflect such change unless within 14 days the member responds satisfactorily or effectively challenges the findings as detailed above for first violations.
8. A member who is "not in good standing" must submit a response addressing the action taken to cure the noncompliance that satisfies the review board, upon which such member's status will be restored. Any member's status that remains "not in good standing" for 30 days or more may be subject to further discipline including suspension or termination.
9. Third violation of same issue - The Company's membership will be reviewed for discipline including but not limited to probation, suspension or termination depending on the severity of the noncompliance/violation.
10. A company can reinstate their membership if they pay a $1,000 fine and resubmit a new membership application that is approved by the membership committee. (The fine may be waived at the discretion of the executive board upon its approval).

Gross Non-compliance of AFCC Standards/Committing a gross violation

1. First violation -a warning letter along with the reports from the secret shopper or investigation will be sent out explaining the issues and giving the company fourteen days to correct the issues.
2. After the 14 day correction period the company will be fully shopped or investigated again. If the company is still found to be committing a gross violation through the secret shopper program or investigation, a new report will be issued to the offending company with the deficiency and violations and the company will be suspended for 30 days. The company can request that in four weeks they be shopped or investigated again at their own expense. If a request is not made to be re-shopped or investigated before the end of the 30 day suspension, membership will be automatically terminated. A company will be shopped twice within a 2 week period after the 30 day suspension and if found to be compliant, membership will be reinstated.

3. Second violation – The AFCC’s Executive Board will review the claims and the results of any investigation and may take appropriate disciplinary action up to and including immediate termination of membership.
4. A company can reinstate their membership if they pay a $1000 fine and resubmit a new membership application that is approved by the membership committee. (The fine may be waived at the discretion of the Executive Board upon its approval).

Definition of Gross Violation:

In making such a determination the Executive Board shall consider not only the gravity of the alleged violation(s) but also the best interests of the membership and the industry.

Lack of response on client validation letter request.

1. First request missed: A warning letter will be sent out within 7 days of the deadline for submission. The letter will state that if the company does not send in a client validation update before the next scheduled monthly dues processing date, dues will be automatically increased to the next level.
2. A second request for validation will be sent out after the company’s dues have been processed at the increased level. The letter will state if the AFCC has not received an updated client validation by the next time dues are processed, membership status will be changed to “Not in Good Standing” and the AFCC website will be changed to reflect this status. The letter will also state that the company’s membership may be cancelled if client validation letter is not received by the next quarterly validation request.
3. If the AFCC has not received an updated client validation by the seventh day following the next semiannual validation request deadline, the company will be sent a notice of the appropriate disciplinary action up to and including immediate termination of membership.

4. If terminated, a company may reinstate their membership if they pay a $1,000 fine and resubmit a new membership application that is approved by the membership committee. (The fine may be waived at the discretion of the Executive Board upon its approval).

Falsely reporting client numbers on Client Validation

1. Initial Violation: A warning letter will be sent out giving the company 30 days to respond to the allegations of underreporting client count. The company should respond by supplying supporting documents to the AFCC's main office to prove their client count. If it is found the company underreported, discipline may range from paying back-dues up to termination of membership.
2. If after 30 days the company fails to respond, the company's status will be changed to "Not in good standing" and the website will be updated to reflect such change. A letter of suspension will be sent out letting the company know that they have 14 days to resolve the issue.
3. Failure to respond to the second letter will result in appropriate disciplinary action up to and including immediate termination of membership.
4. A company can reinstate their membership if they pay a $1,000 fine and resubmit a new membership application that is approved by the membership committee. (The fine may be waived at the discretion of the Executive Board upon its approval)

Failure to Pay Dues

1. First month: A warning letter will be sent to the company requesting it resolve the lack of payment before the next billing cycle. If not resolved within 14 days the company's membership status will be reported on the AFCC website as "Not in good Standing".
2. Second month: if dues are not paid up in full, a cancellation letter will be sent out Next Day Mail with tracking. The letter will state that the company has 14 days from receipt of the letter to resolve the issue or the company's membership may be cancelled. Failure to respond or lack of resolution will result in appropriate disciplinary action up to and including immediate termination of membership.
3. If terminated, a company may reinstate their membership if they pay a $1,000 fine and resubmit a new membership application that is approved by the membership committee. (The fine may be waived at the discretion of the executive board upon its approval).

Non-compliance AFCC Logo standards

1. Initial Violation: A warning letter will be sent to the offending company with a copy of the AFCC's Logo Setup instructions and AFCC's Logo Agreement. The letter will state that the company has 30 days to fix the issue or their status will be changed to "Not in Good Standing" and the AFCC website will be updated with such change.
2. After 30 days, the company's website will be checked again for compliance with logo standards. If not in compliance the company's status will be changed to "Not in good Standing" and the AFCC website will be updated with such change. A letter will go out apprising the company of its status change and that if not resolved within 30 more days the company will receive appropriate disciplinary action up to and including immediate termination of membership.
3. If the logo issue is not resolved after the second 30 day period appropriate disciplinary action will be taken up to and including immediate termination of membership.
4. A company can reinstate their membership if they pay a $1,000 fine and resubmit a new membership application that is approved by the membership committee. (The fine may be waived at the discretion of the Executive Board upon its approval).

Lack of Response to a Consumer Complaint Received by AFCC

1. If a Consumer complaint is received by the AFCC office from a consumer it will be taken seriously and sent to Compliant Committee for review and action. The consumer complaint will be forwarded by the AFCC office to the company to attempt to resolve the complaint amicably. The complaint should be addressed with the consumer within 30 days and a written response should be sent to the consumer and a copy should be sent to the AFCC. An amicable resolution may not be possible but a response should be made regardless.

2. If the company does not respond to the consumer or let the AFCC know the disposition of the complaint after 30 days a warning letter will be sent out letting the company know that they have 14 days to respond to the complaint. If after 14 days the complaint has still not been addressed the company's status will be changed to "Not in good standing" and the AFCC website will be updated to reflect this.
3. If the complaint is still not resolved after 30 days of being in a status of "Not in good standing" the company's membership will be terminated.
4. A company can reinstate their membership if they pay a $1,000 fine and resubmit a new membership application that is approved by the membership committee. (The fine may be waived at the discretion of the executive board upon its approval).

AFCC™ Disclosure Statement

This company is a Member of the American Fair Credit Council and as such has agreed to publicly disclose the following on each of our websites and as part of our contract with consumers. Should you wish to comment on our use or avoidance of this disclosure please email info@americanfaircreditcouncil.org with your contact information and the nature of the complaint and the AFCC compliance department will assist you.

< company name > provides consumers with a method of debt resolution known as credit advocacy. Credit advocacy is an aggressive method of debt management, which depends on the negotiation of mutually agreeable settlements or resolutions between the consumers and the creditors. < company name > wants you to understand both the potential benefits and pitfalls that may arise out of the credit advocacy process and to have reasonable expectations regarding the outcome.

BY SIGNING BELOW, YOU ARE STATING < company name > HAS EXPLAINED TO YOU, AND YOU UNDERSTAND ALL THE ISSUES BELOW:

1. You are enrolling into a debt resolution/credit advocacy program after voluntarily seeking the assistance of < company name > The goal you have set is to negotiate mutually agreeable resolutions between you and your creditor(s) for payment of certain unsecured debt(s) described as Enrolled Debts. No specific results can be predicted or guaranteed.
2. You will be responsible for savings sufficient funds that you control to fund debt resolutions that < company name > will endeavor to negotiate on your behalf. You and only you will be in control of all funds and under no circumstances will < company name > have custody or control of the funds you set aside to fund debt resolutions.
3. The savings program you have made to reach your debt resolution goal is detailed in your Client Agreement. Summaries of the total resolution amount, monthly savings, and the period needed to reach your goal were prepared based on the goal you selected. Those summaries reflect the minimum amount that we have estimated you will need to save to put yourself in a position to reach your goals. Actual resolution amounts, necessary savings and the period required to reach your goal may vary based on creditors actions and other factors that may affect or prevent the realization of your goals.
4. While most creditors and collectors negotiate with Credit Advocacy Debt Resolution Providers, < company name > cannot force the negotiations and cannot force creditors to accept a resolution or settlement. < company name > does not make regular monthly payments to your creditors. Your creditors may continue collection efforts on delinquent accounts while you are enrolled in a Credit Advocacy Program. Such collection efforts can include phone calls and letters to you, charging off the account, sending accounts to collection agencies or attorneys, lawsuits and even garnishments of your wages. If a judgment has been obtained < company name > makes no claim that it will be able to stop these collection activities. These activities may continue while < company name > is making its best efforts to negotiate your debt.
5. Your Credit Advocacy Program assumes an effort that will continue for many months. The time needed to produce a resolution depends on a number of factors. These may include: (a) your financial hardship, (b) the age and balance of the accounts that you owe your creditors, and (c) the funds you have available to pay for a resolution; and (d) the willingness of individual creditors to enter into debt resolution negotiations. While no guarantees can be given, generally the quicker you save money the sooner you will be in a position to reach your goals. Increased savings will provide you with the option to accept lesser discounts and will also enable you to accumulate funds to reach your debt resolution goals more quickly. However, any resolution must be acceptable to both you and your settling creditor.
6. The fees paid to < company name > are intended to compensate them for its efforts and will only be refundable to the extent they have not been deemed to have been earned in the manner described in the Client Agreement. Those fees are not being set aside or held in escrow to fund debt resolutions. Fees paid to a Credit Advocacy Services Provider such as < company name > for its services will not be available to pay creditors.
7. Communications with creditors are handled on a case by case basis. In some instances, creditors may not be contacted until several months after you enroll.
8. You have stated that, because of circumstances beyond your control (hardship), you are unable to meet the minimum payments required by your creditors. If you do not make required minimum payments to your creditors you may be breaking the terms of your agreements with them and your actions will probably be reported to consumer reporting agencies as late, delinquent, charged-off or past due balances. Your creditor may also raise the interest rate on your account and impose other penalties. Your account balance may continue to grow as your creditor adds accrued interest, late fees, over-limit fees and penalties. Your balance may continue to grow until a resolution is reached with your creditor; and, if negotiations are unsuccessful, you could be called upon to pay the entire balance. After resolution, your creditor may comment that the account was "settled for less than the full amount" on your credit report. A Credit Advocacy Program may have an adverse effect on your credit report and credit score.
9. When your creditor agrees to settle a debt, a savings of $600 or more off what you owed may be reported by your creditor to the IRS as Discharge of Indebtedness income. You may wish to consult your tax advisor to determine whether your individual circumstances may permit you to exclude any such Discharge of Indebtedness Income from your reportable income due to insolvency. For more information on tax ramifications to you personally you may also wish to consult a CPA or Tax Attorney and to refer to the IRS website www.irs.gov IRS Publication 908-"Bankruptcy Tax Guide" and IRS Form 982, Reduction of Tax Attributes Due to Discharge of Indebtedness available on the IRS website.
10. If applicable, you acknowledge that the company is not a law firm and cannot provide legal advice.
11. You understand that you have the responsibility and the right to communicate my comments directly to the company's management.

Upon request, you will receive from the Company the refund procedure and grievance policy.

To summarize, each case is unique and results may vary: A Credit Advocacy Program can be a very effective way to resolve your debt, but it is not a painless process and no guarantees can be given because the process is subject to factors that neither you nor your service provider may be able to control. As with any type of debt repayment plan, failure to complete a Credit Advocacy Program is likely to have negative consequences on your financial situation.

Finally, you have a right to report directly any concerns to AFCC™ via email: info@americanfaircreditcouncil.org

Please sign below indicating you have read and agree to the AFCC Disclosure Agreement.
